Wipf Stock Publishers, United States, 2012. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Description: These poems--selected from the award-winning poet's output over four decades--more explicitly than any of his prior volumes address the centrality of Christian vision to his aims and aspirations. Lea looks unflinchingly at all that may challenge his faith: the cruelties of both natural and human worlds, the attractions of jolly, good-hearted secularism, the distortions of doctrinaire religiosity, the seeming pointlessness of untimely deaths; but his faith in Christian redemption shines through even the bleakest of his poems. Endorsements: The life in Sydney Lea's poems is entirely local, whether the locale is Italy, Montana, or his home in Vermont . . . The making of the soul that occurs in Sydney Lea's poems is intimately connected with the place where the making occurs . . . Sydney Lea's poems show us that all spirituality is local spirituality. He is our preeminent poet of the soul's making among local places and people. --Mark Jarman Author of Bone Fires: New and Selected Poems Sydney Lea's heartbreaking and heartening poems look, with the utmost honesty, at what we may or may not be / here on earth. . . . [These] urgent poems give us back the depth of our existence. With intelligence, passion, and humility, Lea embraces the task he has been given: to record those warming recollections of parents, friends, wife and children, and to acknowledge how this splendid universe subsumes . . . his small dumb witness into a hymn of grateful praise. --Robert Cording Author of Walking with Ruskin In this book Sydney Lea invites us to take a spiritual journey . . . By the end of Six Sundays, the narrator and the...
